2-4 PM on the last Sunday of each month. Every Sunday from Thanksgiving to New Year's.

Etta Terrell built the United States' largest steel strand home in 1936. This 22 room residence was constructed as a home for her and four of her sisters. Bertha, Loriene and Carlyle Wilkinson who never married. Etta and Regina were both widowed.

The home consists of two floors, all furnished with exquisite antiques. The home also has a basement and attic.

The Beeville Art Association is now the owners of the home and opens it regularly for tours. Tours of the Berclair Mansion are being conducted on the last Sunday of each month from 2 to 4 pm. Cost is $10.00 per person. All ages.

The BAA also opens the home by special appointment for tours with the provision of a minimum of 10 persons.

Arrangements may also be made for luncheons with a minimum of 20 persons. Also available for dinners, showers, weddings and other events. If interested in booking a tour, luncheon, or special event, you may call 1-800-248-3859 or 361/358-3859.

Plans are underway for a “Starving Artist” show on the grounds of the mansion in the spring of 2011.
